

Hey there!

I hope you have enjoyed your week! February is quickly coming to an end and if you're like me, you're preparing mentally and physically for the warm weather ahead. Spring is only 26 days away!

So much planning has been going into making our 1st-year flower farm a success and it's giving me all the feels! And then I think about how much time is left to get ready and my stomach turns into knots. Every day is another forward and another day closer to having it all together.

In the next few weeks, I'll be gathering all of our flower bed materials and I can't wait! I'll have a ton of updates on Instagram and Facebook so be on the look-out!

Last week I expanded on the importance of urban agriculture and sustainability. The growth of our cities is increasing pressure on our pollinators. We all know bees are in trouble, but little is known about the health of other pollinators. Read more about the not-so-surprising outcome of an in-depth study of nine cities in the United Kingdom. Education is the key component to the health of our planet!

If you haven't been to the site in a while, let me tell you about some changes.

My most favorite addition has been our Promo's of the Month section! This month we're featuring our favorite podcasts. I'm so excited to change these promotions each month. Keep an eye out for the announcements each month laying out what we're loving and want to share with you!

If you have anything you'd like to feature, please reach out! We're always open to working with other people and companies and believe it's important to build each other up!

With spring nearing, I gave our Culinary Herb Companion Planting Guide a make-over! Click the link to make sure you receive yours. More resources will be available in the near future!

Last, but certainly not least, I'd like you to be the first to know about our new e-commerce store! I have spent many weeks, late nights, and early mornings searching high and low for the perfect products! Sustainability, hand-made, local artisans, and beautiful designs were the criteria for each chosen item. Since you let me bring you this exciting adventure before the rest of the world, I want you to enjoy 30% off your first purchase by using code 3OPCS.

Have a great weekend and always remember to
